Job Description

As a Personal Market Sales Intern, you will develop knowledge about the business of personal insurance through exposure to all major functions of the Personal Market (Claims, Sales & Service, and Underwriting). You will focus on developing the skills necessary for success in Sales by working closely with Sales Representatives in a field office. The assignment will consist of job shadowing, working with Sales information systems, and assisting Sales Reps with day-to-day job duties. In addition, you will spend time out of the office observing and/or assisting with group sales calls. (Please note that you will not be advising policyholders). You may be assigned to additional project work including research assignments, and an end-of-summer presentation to Management. Throughout your time in the Sales department, you will build prospecting, product knowledge, and relationship building skills necessary for success in Sales.

You must be working towards a bachelor's degree and possess excellent analytical, written and verbal communication skills.
